Fiction Intensive Handouts – Mesu Andrews

Day 1: PROJECT SEQUENCING (Look to the Master Builder)

Genesis 1:1 – “In the beginning God created the _____ and the _____.”

Today's Word: _____

- When the Holy Spirit begins “brooding/hovering” in your spirit to create a story, what elements do you focus on first?

Would you consider your novels to be “plot-driven” or “character-driven”? (Circle one)

What are your writing strengths?

What are your writing weaknesses?

What tangible (measurable and specific) prayer request can your group pray for you this week as you work together to “fill each other’s gaps” with strengths?

Whose emotions are the first to define your characters? (Emotional Craft of Fiction by Don Maass)

- What makes you most angry right now? (Write in 1st person to the person/situation)
- What is today's greatest joy—the best thing about your best thing? What do others fail to see about it? What's POSSIBLE now that wasn't before you felt this joy?
- Is your greatest joy strong enough to overpower your deep anger? Why or why not? What could possibly happen to make you choose joy?
- How can you change your WIP to demonstrate more powerfully ONE of the above lessons—and the emotions with it?

When he has brought out all his own, he goes on ahead of them, and his sheep _____ because they _____. _____ . But they will _____ a stranger; in fact, they will run away from him because they do not recognize a stranger's voice.”

Best-Selling Authors Debate Plotting Methods: <https://bit.ly/pants-plot-quotes>

“What I have learned is that plotting and writing a long synopsis (as much as I HATE it) actually saves me in the long run and keeps me more focused.”

~ Kimberley Woodhouse, author of 100+ novels

“I have done a couple of plotted books, and when I was done plotting them, I no longer wanted to write them. Why? Because I knew every detail of the story...So why write it? For me, writing is a process of discovery. It's what draws me into my office. Let's see what happens today!”

~ Robin Lee Hatcher, author of 90 novels and novellas
